

EARN POINTS ON FACEBOOK TODAY

Extra points on top of your daily check-in. Separate. They stack.

These points are SEPARATE from your daily check-in points. They stack on top. Read this once, understand the logic, then go earn them.

THE FOUNDATION — EVERY IMAGE YOU UPLOAD = +5 POINTS

Your check-in form has 5 upload slots. Every image you upload in those slots earns you +5 points automatically — no matter what the image shows. Figma work, Facebook screenshot, anything. +5 per image. Always.

|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
|  | Upload any image to the check-in formFigma work, Facebook screenshot, group share screenshot — any image in any slot. | +5 PTSper imageuploaded |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

The 5 slots are SHARED across all image types. If you upload 3 Figma screenshots and 2 Facebook screenshots, you have used all 5 slots. Plan your uploads wisely.

WHAT YOUR IMAGE SHOWS DETERMINES YOUR EXTRA POINTS ON TOP OF THE +5

The base +5 is for uploading. But the content of the image earns you additional points on top. Here is how it works:

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                  |

HOW TO MAXIMIZE YOUR POINTS — DO THIS IN ORDER

You have limited upload slots. Use them in this order to get the most points:

| Priority                   | Action                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Points Per Image |
|----------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|
| 1st (Do this first)        | Heart + Comment + Share on a post, screenshot it, upload it. Do this for every available post before anything else. Each one earns +15 total (+5 base + +10 action bonus).                                               | +15 total        |
| 2nd (Do this after)        | Share the post to a Facebook group, screenshot the group share, upload it. Do this after you have covered all posts with the three core actions. Each group share screenshot earns +10 total (+5 base + +5 group bonus). | +10 total        |
| 3rd (Fill remaining slots) | Any other image — Figma work, other screenshots. These earn the base +5 only. Still worth uploading if you have slots left.                                                                                              | +5 total         |

DO THIS IN ORDER EVERY DAY: 1. Heart + Comment + Share every post → Screenshot → Upload 2. Share to Facebook groups → Screenshot each → Upload 3. Fill remaining slots with your Figma work

EXAMPLE — What one day looks like if you do this right

You have 5 upload slots. Here is how a student maximizes them:

| Upload Slot  | Image Uploaded                                         | Points Earned  |
|--------------|--------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| Slot 1       | Screenshot of Post 1 — Heart + Comment + Share visible | +15 pts        |
| Slot 2       | Screenshot of Post 2 — Heart + Comment + Share visible | +15 pts        |
| Slot 3       | Screenshot showing Post 1 shared to Design Group       | +10 pts        |
| Slot 4       | Screenshot showing Post 1 shared to Business Group     | +10 pts        |
| Slot 5       | Screenshot of Figma work built today                   | +5 pts         |
| TOTAL |                                                        | +55 pts |

In this example the student used 2 slots for Heart/Comment/Share screenshots (+15 each), 2 slots for group share screenshots (+10 each), and 1 slot for Figma work (+5). Total from uploads alone: +55 points on top of the regular check-in points.

YOUR TOTAL POINTS PRINT ON YOUR CERTIFICATE EXACTLY AS THEY ARE. Every point you earn — and every point you miss — is permanent.

BASE MAXIMUM POINTS

660

660 is the floor — not the ceiling. Every point above 660 strengthens your certificate. Students who reach 1,000+ show the world they work harder than required. That is something no resume can fake.

This guide is not explained in the main group. The students who understand this system and act on it daily will finish this programme with significantly more points than those who only filled the form. You now know exactly what to do. Go do it.
